— New Pastors Blog —

In September the NBA Office began an initiative that will provide pastors and other leaders in NBA Churches an avenue to share their knowledge and wisdom gained over decades of experience. The office will be contacting pastors and other ministry leaders from churches asking if they would be willing to create a post that will be shown on the NBA Website. Topics will be determined by the NBA, however, if you would like to share something that would benefit others we would love to hear your idea. You can view the first post written by Joe Dotson - an elder at Mercy Hill Baptist Church - at our website.
